Liberal Arts

"You can never cross the ocean unless you have the courage to lose sight of the shore."

-Christopher Columbus

Yasmin Banuelos was born and raised on the northwest side of San Antonio and attended Travis Early College High School. She was a member of Gamma Sigma Girls, Girl Up, National Hispanic Honor Society, and the National Honor Society. By participating in a dual credit program with her high school and San Antonio College, she became the first in her family to attend college.

Yasmin has maintained a 4.0 GPA while balancing volunteer work, academics, and extracurricular activities in both high school and college. She plans to earn a Bachelor of Arts in business accounting and Spanish language at a university within the great state of Texas.
