“The best way to predict your future is to create it.”

-Abraham Lincoln

Kathaleen De Hoyos was born in San Antonio and attended Travis Early College High School and San Antonio College. While managing high school and college, she completed many internships, designed various logos for companies, and developed a digital marketing business on social media to help other local businesses transition from in-person to a successful online presence during the COVID-19 pandemic.

Additionally, she supported her mother by taking care of her brother and sister while her mother worked. As their older sister, she tried her best every day to be the highlight of her siblings' day and to become a better version of herself for them.

Kathaleen has always been naturally determined to further her understanding of STEM and entrepreneurship to remedy the negative effects of AI technology and benefit society as a whole. She plans to earn a bachelor's degree in science and technology management at a university in Texas.
