“When you want to succeed as bad as you want to breathe, then you’ll be successful”

- Eric Thomas

Jerimey Simons is a Texas transplant from Detroit, Michigan, but now calls the Lone Star State his home. Over the last two years, he couldn't have imagined where life has now taken him, especially after overcoming numerous obstacles along the way.

Despite the rise of Covid-19 changing the traditional classroom, he has consistently earned his spot on the President's list at SAC. He joined Phi Theta Kappa and Black United in Leading Technology, received the 2020 Valero Energy Corp Endowed Scholarship and the Critical Thinking Badge in Advanced Java. He is also committed to promoting volunteering with San Antonio Pets Alive.

Jerimey is an endlessly optimistic person who is excited about the boundless opportunities the future holds after graduation. He plans to pursue a bachelor's degree in computer science, advocate to increase minority representation in STEM, and develop applications that focus on the community and its advancement.
