6. Institutional Methodology

Current Update to Methodology

The methodology which Northwest Vista College applies to determine which students receive HEERF Emergency Financial Aid Grants is aligned to the guidance and updates issued by the U.S. Department of Education for CRRSAA (a)(1) and ARP (a)(1) programs, with the current approach based on the amended regulations pertaining to student eligibility criteria to receive emergency financial aid grants under HEERF programs, which was published in the Federal Register on May 14, 2021. Northwest Vista College continues to prioritize students with exceptional need, such as students who receive Pell Grants or are undergraduates with extraordinary financial circumstances in the awarding emergency financial aid grants to students. NVC provides emergency financial aid grants to eligible students for expenses related to the disruption of campus operations due to coronavirus (including eligible expenses under a student's cost of attendance, such as food, housing, course materials, technology, health care, and childcare). Applying the USDOE clarified "student" definition, NVC considers that any individual who is or was enrolled at the institution on or after the date the national emergency was declared for COVID-19 may qualify for assistance under the HEERF programs, which includes citizens, permanent residents, refugees, asylum seekers, DACA recipients, DREAMers, and similar undocumented students, as well as students enrolled exclusively in distance education programs, with NVC prioritizing exceptional need in the awarding of HEERF emergency financial aid grants.

NVC students can request emergency aid assistance through an electronic application available in the ACES student portal and accessible through the NVC website. Adhering to U.S. Department of Education guidance, documentation of expenses is requested from students applying for HEERF Emergency Financial Aid Grants assistance, but is not mandatory. The online student application asks students questions pertaining to their need for assistance and the amount being requested, and requires students to electronically certify that the funds for which they are applying are for expenses resulting from the disruption of campus operations due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

The Student Advocacy and Resource Center, in collaboration with the NVC Student Services leadership, has developed a rubric for what an appropriate award would be for different categories of expenses. The rubric serves as a guide for NVC in the award decisions for student emergency financial aid grants. With a maximum award of $6,000 per semester for continuing students, HEERF Emergency Financial Aid grant screening awards are based using the following amounts:

- $2,000 for students who are parents of children under the age of 18
- $ 600 for dependent students
- $1,000 for independent

While student awards are based on dependent, independent status, and parental status, student actual eligibility will be based current guidance and updates issued by the U.S. Department of Education pertaining to HEERF Emergency Financial Aid Grants, AND supportive assessment provided by a case management team. The award amount depends on the number of applicants, availability of funds, and need demonstrated in the application.

HEERF Emergency Financial Aid Grants information is housed on the Students Emergency Aid page of the Alamo Colleges/Northwest Vista College website. It is also included on the Student Advocacy & Resource Center web page. Both pages are searchable using Google and using the Northwest Vista College website search tool. The information is further promoted through student and employee email, COVID-19 newsletter updates and NVC social media channels (Facebook, Twitter and Instagram).

Previous methodology approaches are found in the NVC HEERF Student Aid archived reports.
